Our Supervisory Committee is responsible for the oversight and determining if our credit union's financial condition is fairly presented and our internal practices and procedures are adequate to safeguard our members assets. Should you have a concern, you may contact CPM's Supervisory committee if you:

Suspect any employee of CPM Federal Credit Union or official of fraudulent or unethical conduct. Reports may be made anonymously. All reviews and investigations will be conducted with a degree of confidentiality that may be applicable given the circumstances of each investigation. Please include as much applicable information as possible. Reports should include:

1. Name(s) of employee(s)
2. Nature of the suspected conduct
3. Where/how the action occurred
4. How and when the conduct was discovered

Have any unresolved concerns about CPM or your accounts. Reports should be limited to matters the credit union has been unable to resolve through normal channels to your satisfaction. Reports should include:

1. Your name
2. Applicable account numbers
3. Detailed description of the activity of concern including dates, amounts, and types of transactions
4. Clear explanation of why you have concerns about the activity
5. Efforts you have made to resolve your concerns prior to the request

Please send your email to supcomm@cpmfed.com.

The supcomm@cpmfed.com email address is NOT for general inquiries, and for members desiring prompt resolution of a service issue it is NOT recommended as the sole means of reporting a service complaint.

Or

Reports can be mailed to:
